

Timeline of language policy in United States

15th century (1400's)

- 250 to 1000 Native American Languages Spoken

Permissive Period-

18th century to 19th century (1700s to 1880s)

- Missionaries attempted to promote English among some eastern Indian nations, 1775 Continental Congress put aside funds for Indian education with intent of conquest.
- English-only practices imposed on enslaved Africans by colonizers, compulsory English illiteracy and ignorance statutes imposed on enslaved people of southern colonies.
- Language difference permitted by colonial governments within different European groups migrating to US territory.
- English became dominant language among European immigrant languages

- 1789-1880-

- Colonists wanted more land which resulted in conquering and annexing of language minority people.
- Compulsory illiteracy laws for African Americans in colonies persisted in southern states until end of Civil War in 1865.
- English education remained a tactic for economic destabilization and pacification of Native Americans, where they were in contact with Whites.
- Cherokee ran their own schools and achieved impressive levels of native language literacy and biliteracy.

Restrictive Period-

1880s to 1960s .

- Indian language policy was enforced by colonial governments as part of a cultural genocide. Whites tried to "civilize the Indian" by killing off their culture and assimilating them into Colonial culture. English-Only assimilationist policies emerge
- Period of "coercive Assimilation" meant to deculturate and pacify Native Americans. English-Only system of boarding schools created by The Bureau of Indian Affairs where Native children were forced to speak English and punished for using native languages
- Native children were stolen from families and forced into boarding schools.

Akesa 7/24/15 7:00 AM

Comment [1]: All the red words are different ways that Euro-American colonist are described.

- Between 1880 through the 1930s US added Hawaii, The Philippines and Puerto Rico to empire placing primacy on English and attempted to restrict language especially in Puerto Rico.

The Opportunistic Period (1960s-1990s)

- 1964 Civil Rights Act, Bilingual Education Act,
- Lau Vs. Nichols (abolished complete English Immersion method also known as sink or swim)
- Casteneda Vs. Pickard

The Dismissive period (1980s to present)

- English only mandates "as instruments of the politics of resentment toward massive immigration from developing countries in the 1980s and 1990s especially from Asia and Latin America.

Resources:

1. Wiley, Terrance G., and Hale De Korne. "Historical Orientations to Language Policy in the United States." LPREN Brief. Center for Applied Linguistics, Mar. 2014. Web. 24 July 2015. <<http://www.cal.org/lpren>>.